Implementing Innovative Accommodations in the Inclusion Setting

Innovative accommodations can be the key to maximizing student success in the inclusion classroom. Instructors will assess participants' critical concerns regarding the implementation of accommodations for students with disabilities. Examples of easy to implement, innovative accommodations will be shared. Participants will work collaboratively to develop appropriate accommodations statements for the Individualized Education Program (IEP) and will have the opportunity to explore teacher-friendly technology resources.

The Teacher and Teacher Assistant:

A Collaborative Team

The focus of this class is to provide information to teachers and teacher assistants to assist them in becoming a more effective collaborative team in the classroom setting. We will explore the various roles and responsibilities of teacher assistants as they navigate through the inclusion process. In addition, participants will discover research based strategies dealing with problem behavior to minimize the frequency of occurrences.
